

Different Types of Power in Julius Caesar

- How would you define power?
- What kind of power can someone possess?
- What do you think has the power to control you?
- What things have you felt powerless against?
- What role do you think power will play in Julius Caesar?
- If power is influence, what things (other than other humans) have power over the characters?

Superstitions

Remember when your aunt told you that there will be a storm if the family...

Julius believes that the stars are reading his mind. He thinks that the stars are telling him what to do. He thinks that the stars are telling him what to do. He thinks that the stars are telling him what to do.

If you are thinking this, don't think that a storm is coming. It's just a storm.

If you are thinking this, it means that someone is telling you to do something. It means that someone is telling you to do something. It means that someone is telling you to do something.

Can you think of any superstitions?

Time to Tweet!

Using a poster board and markers provided, create a tweet that is relevant to both Julius Caesar and the power of superstitions.

Ex: OMG @Caesar's tweets are so old about Rome! #Rome tweets

WOW I'm in the market for a new Caesar! #Caesar tweets

@Caesar's tweets are so old about Rome! #Rome tweets

@Caesar's tweets are so old about Rome! #Rome tweets

Watch out @Caesar, @Caesar's tweets are so old about Rome! #Rome tweets

After You Tweet

Pass your tweet along to the next group, they will reply to your tweet and pass it along to the next group.

Our tweets will be displayed in the classroom and we will share them with each other when we are finished or next class!

Different Types of Power in Julius Caesar

- How would you define power?
- What kind of power can someone possess?
- What do you think has the power to control you?
- What things have you felt powerless against?
- What role do you think power will play in Julius Caesar?
- If power is influence, what things (other than other humans) have power over the characters?

Superstitions

Remember when your aunt told you that there will be a storm if the family...

Julius often believes that during a storm, the gods are angry. He thinks that the gods are punishing him for his actions. The only way to prevent this is by making the gods angry in a different way.

If you are changing the gods, don't forget that a storm means a lot of people will get hurt.

If you are in a storm, it means that someone is trying to get you to do something you don't want to do. You should think about that person's intentions before you do anything.

Can you think of any superstitions?

Time to Tweet!

Using a poster board and markers provided, create a tweet that is relevant to both Julius Caesar and the power of superstitions.

Ex: OMG @Caesar's tweets are so old about Rome! #Romeancat

WOW Lion is the most powerful! #Caesar #Romeancat

@Caesar's tweets are so old about Rome! #Romeancat

@Caesar's tweets are so old about Rome! #Romeancat

Watch out @Caesar, @Caesar's tweets are so old about Rome! #Romeancat

After You Tweet

Pass your tweet along to the next group, they will reply to your tweet and pass it along to the next group.

Our tweets will be displayed in the classroom and we will share them with each other when we are finished or next class!

- How would you define power?
- What kind of power can someone possess?
- What do you think has the power to control you?
- What things have you felt powerless against?
- What role do you think power will play in Julius Caesar?
- If power is influence, what things (other than other humans) have power over the characters?

Superstitions

Dreaming about your teeth falling out means that there will be a death in the family

Latino culture believes that staring at or touching newborn babies too much may curse them with the Mal de Ojo. The baby could become sick with a fever or worse. The only way to prevent this is by making the child wear an azabache bracelet or necklace

If you are sweeping the floor, don't sweep over a single woman's feet or she will never get married!

If your ear is ringing, it means that someone is talking about you! To keep from getting any negative energy from that person, immediately bite on your tongue.

Can you think of any superstitions?

Time to Tweet!

Using a poster board and markers provided, create a tweet that is relevant to both Julius Caesar and the power of superstitions.

Ex: OMG @Casca's omens are obvi about Rome! #thinkaboutit

WOW Lion in the marketplace has Casca like #dangerahead

@Cassius' letter plan is #genius! Maybe now @Brutus will go along with their plan

Watch out @Caesar, @Cassius thinks your state is monstrous! #whatwillhedonext?

After You Tweet

Pass your tweet along to the next group, they will reply to your tweet and pass it along to the next group.

Our tweets will be displayed in the classroom and we will share them with each other when we are finished or next class!

Different Types of Power in Julius Caesar

- How would you define power?
- What kind of power can someone possess?
- What do you think has the power to control you?
- What things have you felt powerless against?
- What role do you think power will play in Julius Caesar?
- If power is influence, what things (other than other humans) have power over the characters?

Superstitions

Remember when your aunt told you that there will be a storm if the family...

Julius believes that the stars are reading his mind. He thinks that the stars are telling him what to do. He thinks that the stars are telling him what to do. He thinks that the stars are telling him what to do.

If you are thinking this, don't think that a storm is coming. It's just a storm.

If you are thinking this, it means that someone is telling you that you are getting only negative things from that person. It's just a person.

Can you think of any superstitions?

Time to Tweet!

Using a poster board and markers provided, create a tweet that is relevant to both Julius Caesar and the power of superstitions.

Ex: OMG @Caesar's tweets are so cool about Rome! #Rome tweets

WOW I'm in the market for a new Caesar! #Caesar tweets

@Caesar's tweets are so cool about Rome! #Rome tweets

Watch out @Caesar, @Caesar's tweets are so cool about Rome! #Rome tweets

After You Tweet

Pass your tweet along to the next group, they will reply to your tweet and pass it along to the next group.

Our tweets will be displayed in the classroom and we will share them with each other when we are finished or next class!